Adjunct Faculty, Urban Forestry and Arboriculture

Department of Natural Resources and the Environment
College of Agriculture, Health and Natural Resources

The Department of Natural Resources & the Environment (http://www.nre.uconn.edu) is collecting contact information from interested persons with interest in becoming adjuncts in courses related to Urban Forestry and Arboriculture. The position(s) is at our Storrs campus and runs during both the fall and spring semesters.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

We are looking for interested persons for the following courses:

> Course(s): SANR 425/NRE 4425 Urban and Community Forestry (3 credits)
> SANR 325/NRE 3425 Fundamentals of Arboriculture (3 credits w/Lab)

These course offering are part of a new program at UConn and will contribute to a new major in Urban Forestry and Arboriculture within the 2-year Associates of Applied Science degree offered through Ratcliffe Hicks School of Agriculture. The course is also open to 4-year students pursuing a Bachelor's of Science degree. The 2-year and 4-year students are taught together, at the same time and place, and all course materials and evaluations will be identical.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Bachelor's degree in urban forestry, natural resources, environmental sciences, or a related field; 3-5 years of experience in a related field, featuring urban forest assessment, evaluation, and management.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

Current or recently retired (past 5 years) urban forester; teaching or training experience; 6-10 years of experience in a related field; excellent oral communication skills. Master's degree in a related field.

APPOINTMENT TERMS

This is a temporary, part-time adjunct faculty position, which is generally appointed on a semester-by-semester basis. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Please visit http://www.nre.uconn.edu for more information about the department and https://rhsa.uconn.edu/ufa/ for more information about the Urban Forestry and Arboriculture major and the Ratcliffe Hicks School of Agriculture.

TO APPLY

Interested qualified applicants should send phone, email and a brief resume to Jason.Vokoun@uconn.edu

Eventual employment of the successful candidate is contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check.
